Dr. Anne Farrell, from Lakes Animal Clinic, demonstrates to the Antioch Fire Department how to use a pet oxygen mask on Virgil the cat. The medium-sized oxygen masks cost $50. Farrell discussed many rescue techniques for all types of pets and farm animals. Some helpful tips include putting cats in pillowcases and that leaving behind bulls and other horned animals is a good idea. Developer Neumann Homes files for Chapter II bankruptcy protection

> By HELEN MANSFIELD hmansfield@nwnewsgroup.com

ANTIOCH - If you try to call the corporate number for Neumann Home's office in Warrenville, your call will no doubt get stuck in its automated phone system of doom. There is no staff directory, and if you try to connect with the operator, the phone will ring and Word hit the streets Oct. 23 that the largest home developer in Antioch had filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection.

Clublands of Antioch, and NeuHaven were two of the developer's local projects, consisting of roughly 1,400 homes combined. Not quite half the homes have been completed, which leaves homeowners and village officials wondering out loud, "now what?"

As of Oct. 29, Antioch Village Board President Dorothy Larson said the village has retained the services of the Waukegan law firm Hinshaw and Culbertson, to "protect us and the residents," she said. Jim Keim, acting village administrator for the village of Antioch, said Neumann residents have been calling Village Hall.

"They want to see if we will complete the infrastructure and plow the snow," Keim said. Keim said the village didn't hear from Neumann before the company filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection, and hasn't heard a peep since. "We've attempted to contact them, but no one's answering the phone," Keim said. Larson said as Neumann's bankruptcy proceedings go forward, the village will keep residents posted by newsletter on the litigation's status in the courts. She said many of the subdivisions' roads are not complete, and as winter approaches, she said the 'snow gods won't care," so the village will plow them. "It's heartbreaking," Larson said of the situation. "But, we will step up to the plate and do whatever the law allows." She said it will be tricky for the village because they would essentially be using public funds to help a pri-

Company owner Kenneth Neumann has told other news outlets that he will ask a bankruptcy judge to immediately refund escrowed deposits for customers with homes not yet under way, roughly 130 homes. He said another 130 to 135 homeowners will be notified that their homes will not be finished.

Keim said the village is still in "assessment mode" looking into what the village will be able to do with Neumann's existing, but uncompleted infrastructure.

"There are a number of issues to address, which are intertwined," Keim said.

The hits keep coming at the Journals

About a month ago, I wrote about the Lake County Journals solid showing in two contests – one through the Illinois Press Association and the other through the Northern Illinois Newspaper Association.

I already shared the results from IPA but wasn't able to do the same with NINA because we did not find out the results from that contest until Oct. 26.

In a competition with the best papers in this region of Illinois, we did more than hold our own – taking 16 awards.

The honors included four first-place finishes in design, personality feature, spot news photo, and sports section. We also took seven secondplace awards, three third-place awards and an honorable mention.

The number of accolades also made the Lake County Journals the sweepstakes winner among papers our size - meaning we won more awards than our competitors.

And the most important thing these awards convey is that we have accomplished to some degree our key objective – to deliver a quality paper to our readers on a weekly basis.

Of course, that work is never done.
We know that we can improve where we are lacking, while further developing our strengths as well.

As we have gone to a free delivery model, our circulation has increased considerably. That means more interests and more opinions are represented in our readership, and that our paper and Web site need to reflect that growing diversity.

So, if you're a new reader and have ideas on how we can improve, or if you're a longtime reader who has opinions on what you would like to see in the Journals, contact me at mpera@nwnewsgroup.com and let me know.

We want to know what you think, because your approval is much more important than plaques we win in a contest.

Thanks for reading the Journals, in print and online.

Animal clinic buys pet oxygen masks

> By HELEN MANSFIELD hmansfield@nwnewsgroup.com

ANTIOCH - Pet-related businesses have created a multi-billion dollar industry that address topics from the breading of pets to their feeding, and the dressing of our four-legged fury and scaly friends.

But along with the joy of owning pets comes the sadness of losing them. The De La Chapelle family underwent a loss earlier this year. The family owned its dog Tasha for nearly 13 years when she died in April of old age. Andrew and Karen's children, Lissy and Britton, were crushed.

Michelle May, and Rachel Effa lemonade stand. The girls Fire Department. donated the money they made Antioch, where the family used to take Tasha for her pet costs about $50.

Fact: The hospice team members visit patients emergency medical technicians, and paramedics with the Antioch Fire Department attended a training session Oct. 23 to learn how to aid pets in the event of a home or farm

Vandeberg said paramedics don't get to work with animals as a rule because they differ greatly from humans, but they also can suffer from smoke inhalation.

"We hope from the training we might provide a family consolation by saving a pet, even though other things are lost," Vandeberg said. "Pets are family members."

When dealing with pets or farm animals, Farrell said, the best thing is to get them out of the smoke and danger.

"Cats are evil, armed, and dangerous," Farrell said with a Dr. Anne Farrell, and the laugh. "With cats, pillow cases are your friend."

When dealing with a frightgot together and started a oxygen mask for the Antioch ened cat, Farrell said, grab the cat by the scruff of the neck, Antioch Fire Investigator scoop up its hind legs with your other arm, and put it in a medium-sized oxygen mask pillow case. She said the bag can be tied at the top, and the cat can go to the veterinarian's office just like that.

With small, caged animals, Farrell said, just grab the cage and take the animal out of danger.

She demonstrated the oxygen mask on her own pets, Josie, a black Labrador retriever, and her two cats, Virgil and the one-eyed Tink. The mask can be placed over the muzzle of a dog, or in the instance of a cat, the pet's whole head can fit in the mask.

Farrell said both types of animals will respond to two liters of oxygen.

Farrell said animal CPR can be as successful as performing CPR on a human, but it is not successful in some situations. She said the heart rate of most animals is much higher than that of a person, so a person performing CPR "will wear out fast."

If the firefighters arrive at a farm where there are a lot of large animals, Farrell recommended that they call her office and let her know how many animals are there and what kind. She, or one of the other doctors from the practice, can meet them at the scene and bring medication.

As for farm animals, Farrell said, horses are herd animals, so if one is led from a paddock, the rest will follow. Cows are trickier, she explained, as they will need to be ushered toward an exit.

"You can't lead them," she said. "And watch out, because they can sidekick."

As for bulls, or any other male animal with horns, Farrell said they should be left behind.

Woodland takes precautions to prevent spread By HELEN MANSFIELD hmansfield@nwnewsgroup.com

GURNEE - Parents of students who attend Woodland School District 50 in Gurnee were recently notified that a middle school student had contracted the Methicillin-Resistant Staphylococcus Aureus, the so-called staph superbug.

Woodland students brought letters home Oct. 24, in English and Spanish, letting parents know that the infected student was receiving "proper medical treatment and is expected to return to school soon."

Jennifer Tempest Bova, public information specialist for Woodland District, said she could not comment on how the student and facility came to know that he or she contracted MRSA.

"The school underwent a thorough cleaning on Monday, and we're being proactive,' Bova said.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, MRSA is a type of bacteria that is resistant to certain antibiotics. Staph infections, including MRSA, occur most frequently among persons in hospitals and healthcare facilities - such as nursing homes and dialysis centers - who have weakened immune systems.

The Woodland letter describes the infection's symptoms as resembling a pimple, boil, or insect bite. The sore can "be red, swollen, painful or have pus or other drainage." MRSA can be passed from person to person through' direct contact with skin or through contact with contaminated items. The bacteria might live in people's noses and on their skin, and most of the time, it does not cause any problem. 'It is not spread through the air. Dr. James Menzer, superintendent for Millburn School District 24, said his district is taking the same precautions with MRSA as it does every

We encourage students to wash their hands and remain clean," Menzer said.

Menzer 'said Millburn doesn't have an intensive sports program like some neighboring schools, so he doesn't think the school is at the same level of risk.

"We have head lice this time of year," he said. "Which is not as as serious, but if it's in your house, it is serious."

Millburn staff members have been briefed on MRSA and what precautions should be taken.

Antioch Community High School District 117 has tips on its Web site for both Antioch and Lakes Community High Schools. According to the site, "the locker rooms and school sports equipment are disinfected daily."

Practical advice

Health department offers leaf-burning tips

As the trees begin to display fall colors, another leaf disposal season is on its way. If leaf burning is allowed in your community and you choose to burn instead of using other disposal methods such as leaf pick-up, composting or mulching. the Lake County Health Department/Community Health Center recommends the following "Good Neighbor Leaf Burning Tips" to minimize the impact to neighbors and the environment.

Be courteous and respectful to your neighbors, especially those with breathing problems. Let them know when you plan to burn.

Do not burn on windy days, especially when the wind is blowing towards your neighbors.

Do not burn wet leaves. Smoke from such fires stays closer to the ground and lingers in people's breathing zone.

If you must burn, the best time of day to burn is from mid-morning to mid-afternoon. The smoke clears faster during this period.

If you can, burn several small fires instead of one large fire. Leaves will burn faster and release smoke for a shorter time.

Do not burn in ditches, drainage ways or within 25 feet of a body of water. The ashes provide fertilizer for algae and nuisance aquatic plants in lakes and streams.

Open burning of anything other than yard waste is not permitted. For more information, contact your local fire department or village for rules, regulations and/or a permit.

CLC trustees hear update on Lakeshore project

Though the state legislature adjourned without passing a capital projects bill, the College of Lake County is getting closer to securing funding for an expansion of the college's Lakeshore Campus in Waukegan, according to a release from CLC.

Consultants told trustees about the progress at the board's October meeting at the Lakeshore Campus. CLC hired government relations consultants Jeffrey Dixon, Paul Williams and Dan Shomon to assist the college in obtaining $32 million in state funding to construct a student services/lifelong learning building. The state funding would cover three-quarters of the building's $42 million cost.

Consultant Jeffrey Dixon told the board that when the "log jam on state funding breaks," CLC is well positioned to receive funding for the project, according to the release. Intended to make the college's programs more accessible to residents of northeast Lake County, the new building would contain space for student sérvices.

Hair-raising health tips

Hairstylist Keri Anne Taylor talks with long-time customer Olivia Mitchell at Trio Hair Design, 5400 Grand Ave. in Gurnee. Trio Hair Design is one of 30 salons that are part of "Shop Talk," a program that offers educational materials on medical conditions. Shop Talk will continue through March 2008.

Salons offer advice about women's health care

By JOSEPH MULLER jmuller@nwnewsgroup.com

Many Lake County hair stylists will have the phrase "go ahead and ask me" printed on their shirts. The answer to the question is a health care program called "Shop Talk."

Gurnee Radiology Center (GRC) and Impact Communications Inc., a health care communications company, are teaming up to equip at least 120 stylists from 30 different Lake County salons and spas to talk to customers about getting health screenings.

Between October and March, the program will focus on different health issues such as cancer, back pain, colon and heart disease.

October, the first month of the program, has focused on breast cancer in conjunction with National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. GRC, the sponsor of this program, has provided women with educational pamphlets that teach women not only to properly examine their breasts, but also to dispel myths surrounding breast examination. Such myths tend to scare women away from testing, impact director Michelle Rathman said.

"With these pamphlets, woman get the real deal," she said.

Women interested in getting screened will be connected to a network of 40 local physicians, Rathman said.

She added that people visiting participating physicians are encouraged to visit the Shop Talk salons with different discounts.

Rathman's personal fight with cancer helped her think of the Shop Talk program.

After a workout buddy's advice to get screened for cancer helped save her life, Rathman realized women depend heavily on friends for health infor-

Rathman said people not only feel safer in talking to people they know rather than doctors, but also more frequently visit their salons. This program uses orientations and learning materials to teach hair dressers how to talk to women about the health issues. We teach them to care about their customers' health as much as they care about their hair." Rathman said.

Participating salon hair stylists from Trio Hair Design, 5400 Grand Ave. in Gurnee, said women are showing interest in the program.

"I think everybody's pretty receptive," said Trio Hair Design stylist Kimberly Lunsford, "I see a lot of people reading and overlooking the brochures.' The program's strategies for seamlessly providing health care information has given it national attention when it became a finalist for the Stevie Awards - a national business award for Best Marketing Program of the Year, Rathman

Deer activity on the rise

The Illinois Department of Transportation and the Illinois Department of Natural Resources want to remind motorists that deer are more active during the fall, and as cooler weather approaches, the likelihood of crashes involving deer increases.

Fall is the busiest season for these crashes as deer seek mates and food sources.

"Be especially cautious where deer are likely to be present such as wooded areas, stream and creek beds, farm field edges, and parks or forest preserves," said Sam Flood, acting director of IDNR.

Lake County is among the top 10 counties with 588 deer-vehicle accidents in 2006.

If a deer-vehicle accident does occur, drivers and passengers involved should provide assistance to anyone injured.

Contact local, county or state law enforcement. Do not attempt to remove a dead or injured deer from a busy roadway. Illinois law requires all accidents resulting in damage of $500 or more to be reported and an accident report to be filed with police.

The driver involved in an accident involving a deer may take possession of the animal. If the driver does not want it, any Illinois resident may claim the deer.

Those taking possession of vehicle-killed deer are not required to phone in a report and obtain a registration number for the deer, unless the deer is taken to a taxidermist or tannery. If the deer is to be taken to a taxidermist or tannery, call the IDNR office of Law Enforcement at 217-782-6431 to obtain a tag, before delivering the deer.

There are sympathetic aspects to Ryan's case. He is 73 years old, and the possibility that he could die in prison is real. Ryan spent a lifetime in public service, and despite the corruption scandal that ended his political career, there were many positive aspects to that career - the moratorium on the death penalty after 13 men were exonerated and freed from death row, Ryan's ability to pass a capital program to OK, then. It is still too early to tell which Fox Lake trustees will run, she said.

Irwin served as trustee before she beat then-president Nancy Koske by 17 votes in 2005. She had previously served the village as director of the Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Firms profiting from war To the editor:

Corporations that profit from the war economy such as Lockheed-Martin (weapons), Halliburton and Bechtel (infastructure), and Blackwater (security). contribute millions to politicians and use lobbyists to assure lucrative government contracts, then promote militarism and war.

Blackwater is a corporate army with the largest, most sophisticated private military center on the planet. The United States pays Blackwater's civilian soldiers from $500 to $1,500 a day to provide security in Iraq.

Although investigated for the killing of innocent Iraqi civilians, they operate with little oversight and with immunity from prosecution. The State Department pays private security contractors nearly $4 billion a year. War profiteering relates to Eisenhower's warning about the rise of the military industrial complex and misplaced power. Learn more and help dismantle the war economy by attending "War Profiteering and

Senior citizens defend their sweet tooth

You might have read, as I did, what happened to a group of elderly citizens at their senior center in Mahopac, N.Y. For years, the senior center made available sweets such as doughnuts, cakes, and pies on Suddenly, without giving the seniors any voice in the matter, the officials at the center decided that the sweets would no longer be served there. All of the seniors were naturally upset at the new policy, and seven of them were so outraged that they staged a formal protest. The officials at the center based their decision on medical reports that sweets can cause heart diseases and other health problems for the elderly.

They said that they were doing a public health service on behalf of the seniors.

The seniors didn't have the same take on the issue.

The average age of the seniors at the center is 76, and I'm sure that tacted to be a part of the decisionin their lifetime they have heard that eating too many sweets might not be the best thing for their too, but I didn't read that salt was banned at the center.

One other thing that I'm sure that seniors have learned in their lifetime is that it is not the best thing in the world for others to make decisions for them.

It is ridiculous for officials at a senior center to act as public health counselors to advise what they can or can't eat. Each senior can make that choice on their own.

If the senior center in New York is like the ones that I have experienced, they are usually a close-knit group of regular and loyal atten-

One of the protesters who was riled that the seniors had no voice in the decision, said "I'm 86, not 8." I would invite all of those officials to join me at the annual Wisconsin State Fair. Cream puffs are always the best seller at the fair. It's like a production line with young, middle-aged, and yes, seniors, in long lines gorging on delicious cream puffs. No age discrimination there. Try to tell any of them that they can't enjoy those sweets. Try to peel anyone older than 65 years of age from those long lines, and they

Free HomeFinder Service Helps Lake County Homebuyers Buy Beautiful Homes From $200,000 To $400,000 For Zero Down

Lake County, Illinois Thursday, November 1, 2007

I'm Doug Anderson with Blue Fence Real Estate. I started this service because many consumers think they need tens of thousands of dollars to buy a $200,000 to $500,000 home these days. You may have talked with Realtors or Lenders who have told you that you need $30,000, $50,000 or even $70,000 to buy a home in Lake County.

Five years ago that may have been the case, but it is no longer true. As a matter of fact, right now there are loans that enable you to buy a $200,000 to $400,000 house for absolutely zero down payment.

It's easy to learn what homes and home loans are available with my new HomeFinder Service. Each night my HomeFinder computers access the Lake County area Multiple Listing Service and search through all the information on every home listed in the entire area by every real estate company.

The computers sift and sort through all of the new listings, your exact specifications. The system then mails, or if you prefer, automatically faxes or emails you that information on a And then you'll tell us. daily, weekly or twice-weekly

Service, our team has a HomeFinder computer network that searches through 324 home loan programs to find the best home loan programs for you. This allows us to find the very best loan to meet your personal objectives - be it low interest rate, low monthly payments, or zero down payment.

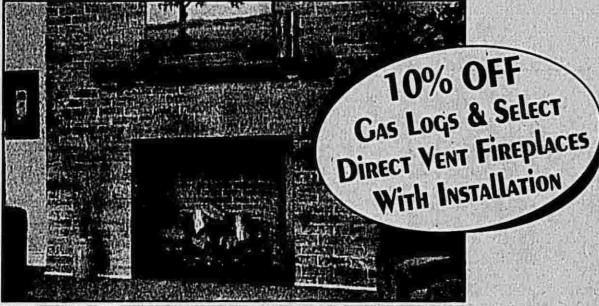

As you can well imagine, there's just too much to tell you about in this brief article, but it's easy for you to get more information. For more information give me a call at 847-984-0721 and I will take

Cutting new-car costs

(NAPSA)-One way to avoid sticker shock or buyer's remorse when purchasing a new car is to consider expenses you may encounter down the road.

For instance, experts say that while most people anticipate the purchase price, taxes and registration fees associated with a vehicle, many forget that the insurance they need to protect their vehicle could come with a hefty price tag. Fortunately, there are ways to keep insurance costs down while maintaining the type and amount of coverage a new car typically requires.

To help consumers control car costs-from sticker price to premiums-The insurance Progressive Group Insurance Companies offers these tips:

· How does this insurance company handle claims? Price isn't the only factor to consider. It's a good idea to deal with a company that will be there for you when you need it around the clock.

Gino's East serves up topnotch Chicago-style pizza they're right. Their deep dish pizza has a special cornmeal crust, covered by mountains of cheese, with the tomato sauce on top. It's a bit different from the normal pizza formula, but it definitely works.

The cheese pizza has nearly an inch of cheese on every slice. That, coupled with a hint of corn bread taste from the crust makes for a Chicago-style slice of heaven.

But no good pizza can be called a work of art without a good sauce. Gino's sauce has just enough spice to bring out the flavor, but not too much to overpower the tomato.

According to Gino's East's Web site, www.ginoseast.com, the recipe was created in 1966 and hasn't changed since then,

Thanks to the large amount of cheese, most people will be more than full after one or two pieces. And that will leave plenty for late-night microwaving.

Traveling handbag show comes to Lake County

By JESSICA JACOBSEN jjacobsen@nwnewsgroup.com

Sabreen El-amin has quite a collection of purses. In fact, the Chicago resident owns more than 200 of them. But Elamin hasn't just bought purses for her collection. She also has been making them since she was in elementary school. One purse El-amin said she remembers making was a bottle-cap purse in her art class. She and other students sewed bottle caps onto fabric and then turned that into a fashion item. A bottle-cap purse was one of many that El-amin and others saw when they visited the Lake County Discovery separating the two colors.

'American Gangster' uses past to examine present

By JEFFREY WESTHOFF sidetracks@nwnewsgroup.com

"American Gangster" might be the first film about 1970s heroin kingpin Frank Lucas (Denzel Washington) and the cop (Russell Crowe) who took him down, but much of it feels familiar.

So many of the supporting players in this fact-based account have been featured in other movies that you could program a film festival.

Laurence Fishburne played Lucas' mentor, Ellsworth "Bumpy" Johnson, twice in "The Cotton Club" and "Hoodlum." One of Lucas' rivals, Nicky Barnes, is the subject of a documentary, "Mr. Untouchable," which was released last week. A group of corrupt New York City narcotics cops led by Josh Brolin was the inspiratioh for Sidney Lumet's "Prince of the City."

These cops got rich by selling the heroin seized at the end of "The French Connection." But the films that "American Gangster" director Ridley Scott refers to most are "The Godfather" and "The Godfather, Part II."

As Washington plays him, Lucas is very much like Michael Corleone, the main character in The Godfather trilogy. None of Harlem's top crime lords figure that Lucas, the driver for Bumpy Johnson (played here by "The Mod Squad's" Clarence Williams III), will be a player after Johnson's death.

But Lucas is the quiet man who sits in the corner and waits for his chance. He is the observer who sees how things work and figures how to make them work better.

Lucas' brainstorm arrives when he watches a news story about the high-strength heroin laying out American servicemen in Vietnam. Lucas flies to Bangkok to make a deal directly with heroin Richie gets his own break when he is appointed to the Federal Narcotics Bureau. Like Elliot Ness in "The Untouchables," Richie gets to pick his own task force, and this sets him on a path toward bringing down Lucas.

Many presumptions of the era are reversed. The black man lives in luxury and has the happy family life, while the white man lives in poverty and squabbles with his exwife (Carla Gugino). On Thanksgiving, Richie spreads Underwood ham on a cracker, while Lucas presides over a Norman Rockwell feast.

Sensitive to charges that he might be glamorizing Lucas' life, Scott intercuts the Thanksgiving dinner with shots of Harlem junkies dying or ignoring their small children to make sure the audience knows what paid for the turkey.

Like "The Godfather," "American Gangster" draws parallels between organized crime and big business, Gangster," which is more than although screenwriter Steven Zaillian ("Schindler's List" and "Gangs of New York") is more explicit. Lucas sells his high-quality heroin with the name Blue Magic.

When he discovers Barnes (played with restraint by Cuba Gooding Jr.) is selling a less potent version of the product, Lucas seethes. While Scott pays tribute to the many films that inspired "American Gangster," he also carves a new identity for it. This is a gritty 1970s thriller made for today, re-creating the past to find lessons for the present. Richie's honesty, diligence, and commitment to due process win in the end.

'Savannah' questions faith in faith

By TOM WITOM thomaswitom@yahoo.com

Playwright Evan Smith ("The Uneasy Chair") is back in fine form at Writers" Theatre, where his newest work, "The Savannah Disputation," is making its world premiere.

"Savannah" is a sharp and witty four-character drama that raises questions about the conflicts between dogma and faith - the kind of questions audience members are likely to find themselves. reflecting on.

The fireworks begin immediately when a young, naive evangelist comes knocking at the door of two lonely, elderly sisters. The girl's mission is to convert Catholics to her fundamentalist sect, but her style lacks finesse, as she bluntly informs them of the error of their ways.

Using scripture, Melissa (Suzanne Lang), the overly ardent missionary, argues that Catholics are not "saved."

But irascible-natured Mary (Marilynn Bogetich) isn't buying it and insists that her visitor take her proselytizing elsewhere. To Mary's dismay, her timid and impressionable sibling Margaret (Linda Kimbrough) not only accepts literature from the evangelizer, but agrees to have her make a return visit.

Figuring on turning the tables, Mary coerces her sister to invite for dinner the parish priest, played by Robert Scogin, who hits all the right notes as the wellseasoned, erudite Father Murphy. He comes on the same night the unsuspecting evangelist is expected to arrive to conduct an instructional session.

Mary is initially bemused at the prospect of Father Murphy putting the young evangelist in her place, but during the course of the visit, it's Mary who finds her faith shaken to the core.

Smith enlivens the discussion by injecting such topics as the Inquisition, science versus faith, and pedophilic priests. But there's more going on that goes to the heart of the play, and that's the personal struggles each person – no matter what their station in life - must endure in matters of faith.

Michael Halberstam directs a strong cast, and his work is reinforced by the detail-perfect set of Keith Pitts.

American style tarte tatin (Serves 8)

Ingredients

Cooking spray 3 tablespoons butter

1/2 cup light brown sugar 5 to 6 apples (such as Golden Delicious), pared, cored, and cut into 8 wedges each

2 tablespoons maple syrup Cheese Biscuit Crust: 3/4 cup all-purpose flour, plus additional for rolling

1/3 cup stoneground yellow cornmeal 11/2 teaspoons baking powder

1/2 teaspoon baking soda 1/2 teaspoon salt 3 tablespoons cold butter, cut into small pieces 1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese

3/4 cup shredded extra-sharp Cheddar cheese 1/2 cup buttermilk or plain yogurt

ice water Directions

Preheat oven to 425 degrees Fahrenheit. Coat a 9- or 10-inch castiron skillet with cooking spray, and place over medium heat. Add butter; swirl pan to coat bottom evenly. Add sugar, and cook over medium heat, shaking occasionally, until sugar starts to melt.

Add apples, placing prettiest wedges in first, curved side down, in concentric circles. Then top with several more layers of apple wedges. Cover, lower heat slightly, and steam about 6 to 8 minutes, occasionally shaking pan gently, lifting lid, and spooning cooking liquid over apples, then recovering. Remove lid, turn off heat, and drizzle maple syrup over apples. Set aside.

Combine flour, cornmeal, baking power, baking soda and salt in a food processor. Add butter and cheeses. Add buttermilk; pulse. Add 2 or 3 tablespoons ice water, 1 tablespoon at a time, and pulse until dough begins to come together.

Turn out onto a floured board; press or roll into a circle the size of the skillet. Place dough on top of apples, tucking any extra in at the sides. Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until top crust is very golden and a bit crisp. Let stand about 5 minutes; then turn out onto a large platter. Serve warm.

Changing of sport

seasons

A few days, a few raindrops, and a few tears later, here we are at the crossroads of the sports sea-

Last weekend, four playoff football teams turned to two and thirteen volleyball teams turned to one. On the soccer field, our one chance floated away like a leaf in the wind.

It's hard to see all the hearts breaking as careers come to a close. The many hours spent in gyms working out, on fields perfecting techniques, all gone.

For photographers, it's a bonanza of real, unbridled emotion to capture. For those of us who have suited up, it's a trip back to a time when a goal, a touchdown or a basket meant the world to us.

Either way, it's real. Thankfully, there are still plenty of fall athletes playing their hearts out. Football's got some heavy hitters with 10-0 Grant as one of the favorites to make a real run at the championship and 8-2 Carmel returning to form. In girls cross country, Heather Olson is again wowing the competition with an easy victory in the sectional championship.

They might have some more of fall 2007 to look forward to, but so many others do not.

In volleyball, it didn't go as well. Instead of the usual teams making deep runs, all that is left is Libertyville with a regional title. Let's hope this will fuel all of our favorite teams to make better runs next season.

And soccer, Carmel almost had the sectional championship against Libertyville, But "almost," even an almost with two overtimes and just one goal of separation, just isn't good enough to make it to the next level.

But like a changing of the guards, the winter season is coming to rescue fans from the doldrums of the offseason. When that comes around, we'll finally have gyms to protect us from the elements and basketball to get a look at some more of the best athletes in the state.

In a few weeks, the Lake County Journals will treat you to a basketball preview section that will profile 11 of Lake County's best teams. Be sure to check it out. But, let us not forget about gentler formula, like Olympic Oxy Deck.

Sealing: To identify the right type of stain, consider how you want the finished product to appear and how often you want to maintain the deck. For example, if you prefer the natural beauty of wood, select a clear stain or a toner. These allow the natural wood grain and color to show through, while protecting the wood for three to five years. If you prefer a finish with deeper color, semitransparent stains add additional pigment to the wood and offer added UV ray protection. For rich, vibrant colors and even longer protection of the wood, consider a solid-color stain. Olympic offers a full line of stains and sealants, ranging from clear sealants to solid stains.

Once you buy the stain or sealant, apply it according to manufacturer instructions. All the products mentioned above are available at local home improvement, paint and hardware stores, as well as Lowe's Home Improvement Warehouses.

What's the deal? Bears 'not sure'

CHICAGO - In retrospect it's a shame no one thought to ask Brian Urlacher to issue a diagnosis on the current state of this 3-5 Bears team.

After all, it's likely that "not sure" would have been his answer. It also would have mirrored his teammates' puzzled attempts at explaining how a team goes from a Super Bowl appearance to an inconsistent mess less than 10 months later.

But Urlacher reserved all of his "not sures" for eight questions before ending his latest childish media exchange.

That's just as well, though, because there was no shortage of Bears willing to scratch their heads about the latest schedule plummet, a 16-7 home loss to the Lions.

Kevin -Kaduk

Not only did the defeat complete a regular-season sweep for Detroit, it also erased the warm feelings the Bears took from Philadelphia and put the team behind the 8-ball in the NFC North standings. Even worse, there was no single factor on which to pile the blame. No one play gone wrong. No one aspect to make a quick pledge to fix.

The problems with these Bears now have run deeper than a simple examination.

"We're just not the Bears

we were last year, or we have been the last couple of years,' defensive end Alex Brown said. "I don't know [why]. I don't know what it is. We don't feel like we're a 3-5 team, but we are."

So if the Bears have so much firepower, how do they explain a season that has yet to feature two straight wins and seems destined for, at best, an 8-8 finish?

"If I knew it, I would tell you," cornerback Charles Tillman said, "But I don't know."

WILMETTE - Some games take a while to develop the overall tone. On Oct. 27, the 8A playoff matchup between Warren and Loyola took all of two drives.

In Warren's opening drive, the Blue Devils (6-4) managed only one first down and couldn't get past their own 35-yard line. As for Loyola, the Ramblers put together a 10-play 55-yard touchdown that took 3:32 off the clock.

That's pretty much how the rest of the game would go. Loyola limited Warren to just three points and scored 23 of its own to win the 8A

'When you play against a good defense like that, it's hard to score," Warren coach Dave Mohapp said. "They were ready for our offense, it's as simple as that."

Loyola was plenty ready. The Ramblers put together a punishing scheme that limited Warren to just three first downs in the entire second half. That, and they forced multiple turnovers in the game with punishing hits.

In all, the Blue Devils gave up four turnovers, including back-to-back turnovers in the second quarter. The Blue Devils scored their only point on a 44-yard field goal from Steve Fox just before halftime.

Even more reason to go to the dentist

Dental Center acquires cancer detecting device

By TARA CLIFTON

ANTIOCH - Antioch Dental Center recently acquired an instrument that could help save lives.

Alex Aceves, a registered dental hygienist, said he hopes other dentist offices can get the device, too.

Dental Center staffers bought the VEL Scope for $5,000 about two months ago, Aceves said. He and Robert T. Sven, who owns the office at 439 Lake St., researched the device for nearly two years, which is how long it has been on the market.

Shaped like a narrow, rectangular box, the instrument has a special handheld device attached that emits a bright, florescent light.

The key, Aceves said, is the light density. Scientists discovered that a certain wavelength excites cells when shined into the mouth.

The healthy cells remain the same color as the light, while damaged or cancerous cells appear darker, he said.

The sick cells simply react differently to the wavelength, Aceves said.

"We've been on the bad end of it," Aceves said. "We caught things too late. This puts us on the other end."

Aceves said that 30 patients have been examined with the VEL Scope in the two months the dental office has owned it. So far no cancer has been discovered.

The cost to use the scope is $30, Aceves said, but the office is trying to get insurance companies to cover the fee.

And staffers also are incorporating the instrument into routine adult exams. Children are checked with it only if something abnormal in the mouth is noticed.

Aceves said the office's goal is to not just find cancer before it can grow, but also to increase awareness of oral health and make other dentists aware of the scope.

"We want patients to question and be excited about getting an exam done that can detect the early stages of oral cancer," he said.

Vista's hospital plan deferred by planning board

By HELEN MANSFIELD hmansfield@nwnewsgroup.com

CHICAGO - Vista Health Systems and Advocate Health Care have been in a virtual race since the beginning of the calendar year - each with its own plan for a new hospital in northwestern Lake County.

After several delays, the Waukeganbased Vista Health Systems submitted its plan to the Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board, who put it on this month's packed agenda. On Tuesday afternoon, Nate Llewellyn, manager of communications for Advocate Health Care, said the IHFPB deferred Vista's plan to the December meeting.

Adam Beeson, interim director of marketing and business development for Vista Health Systems, said administrators from the group went into this week's IHFPB meeting "optimistic." Vista had "beaten" Advocate by getting its proposal on the planning board's agenda, over the Oak Brook-based today's meeting," the statement read.

Following the IHFPB's decision on Tuesday, President of Vista Health System President and CEO Barbara J. Martin issued a statement.

"Vista Health System views this deferrals as a very positive outcome from ing any changes.

"In light of the new rules, we are delighted Illinois Health Facilities Planning Board requested Vista defer our application to the next meeting. I eagerly await the opportunity to speak before the Planning Board again in December," said Martin.

Vista's plan called for a 215,000square-foot, 140-bed medical center with 21 emergency room beds, five operating rooms, a catheterization lab, and full radiology services. The roughly $99.8 million facility would be located on Route 132 in Lindenhurst.

Llewellyn said the IHFPB citing pending rule changes as to its reason to defer its ruling on Vista. He didn't know the specifics of the expected changes, but believed it would center on population projections and migration factors.

As for Advocate's plan, which is also expected to appear on the IHFPB's December agenda, Llewellyn said he doesn't anticipate administrators mak-

Medical history

- Proposed sites for Vista Medical Center Lindenhurst and Advocate Hospital-Lake County are less than 10 miles apart.
- If either hospital is approved, it will be the first new hospital planned for Lake County in nearly 30 years.
- · Both plans could be approved, but that is not deemed likely.
- Lake County has more than 700,000 residents. The population is expected to increase between 3 percent and 6 percent, to about 800,000, by 2020.
- According to 2000 figures from the U.S. Census Bureau, the Round Lake Area — Hainesville, Round Lake, Round Lake Beach, Round Lake Heights, and Round Lake Park has a combined population of 45,470. Several special census collections in 2006 will probably push that to more than 60,000. Figures from the 2000 census put Lake Villa and Lindenhurst's combined population at 18,403.

"We feel we have a very strong proposal to meet the needs in Lake County, and we look forward to presenting under the new context," Llewellyn Advocate had expected to be on this month's IHFPB agenda, but Llewellyn said administrators revised the plan, which included a change in the construction cost per square foot.

"We didn't know if the change would hold us up," Llewellyn said.

Once the planning board's agenda was posted its Web site last week, Advocate found it had.

Advocate's hospital plan is for a facility with 144 single hospital rooms, a Level II trauma center. The hospital would be built on 57 acres at Route 120 and Wilson Road in Round Lake, with a overall cost estimated of $239 mil-

Llewellyn said both plans are expected to end of on the agenda for day one of the IHFPB meeting, scheduled for Dec. 4 and 5 at the Hilton Garden Inn in Chicago.

Lindenhurst Village Board President Susan Lahr said she finds the news "a little disappointing," but hopes that the IHFPB still finds Vista's plan for Lindenhurst important, and gets the information they require to make a decision.

Jackie Bailis, former director of communications for Advocate Health Care, had said in other interviews that it's not uncommon for the IHFPB to defer.

"They [the IHFPB] can also defer it, because they need more information. They can defer it with the intent to approve it, or the intent to deny it," Bailis said.

Bailis said each set of hospital administrators will have a turn at a table in front of the IHFPB to make a last pitch for its specific project.

"There are usually four people on the hospital panel," she said. "One is usually the CEO, and the person in charge of planning."

The other two members are wild card spots.

Bailis said the hospital administrators can also defer their answers to two others not on the panel. The administrators give their opening remarks, make their case, and answer questions from the IHFPB.

After that, the administrators play an elaborate game of "chicken" with the board. The IHFPB can, and often, make its decision at the end of the question and answer session. If hospital administrators get the impression their proposal is going to be denied, they can withdraw it and defer to the next month, as Vista did in July.

Township working on second state grant

By TARA CLIFTON

LAKE VILLA - The popularity of village and township youth sporting programs has officials looking for more space to play.

The proposed Dering Park might be part of the answer, said Terry Beadle, Lake Villa Township Trustee.

Beadle, who is active in the Chicago Kickers Soccer Club . Acquisition and Development and the Lindenhurst Area Soccer Club, has two children who have played with the "Growth of soccer in the area has been tremendous," Beadle said, "and on this end [west] of the township, there aren't too many fields to play."

Officials plan for Dering Park to have three large soccer fields, Beadle said, which can be divided into smaller fields if necessary.

The park also will offer money in January. bike trails, educational walking trails for students, and youth group campsites, Dan Venturi, Lake Villa Township supervisor, said.

More money is needed, though, before park construction can get under way.

Venturi said he doesn't expect to need another grant to help fund the $800,000 park, which officials tentatively plan to open in 2008.

"We're looking to do some partnerships," he said, mostly with area athletic clubs.

That's where Beadle has been instrumental, Venturi said.

He is sort of a middle man (OSLAD) grant, Venturi said, between the township and the Chicago Kickers Venturi said the Illinois Lindenhurst soccer club, Beadle said. The groups have expressed interest in helping fund the project.

Blackthorn Grille: An Irish pub with international flair

By LESLIE GLAZIER-WERNER Lesonlife@sbcglobal.net

This Irish pub isn't content to just celebrate the Emerald Isle. Blackthorn Grille is a gourmet globetrotter, with an exceptional wine and drink menu, and an eclectic mix of entertainment.

Co-owner Fred Nielson said business has been booming since the restaurant opened three months ago. Fred, a developer, said he's owned the restaurant property for 40 years, which he formerly leased to Prime Time Saloon & Eatery. Fred and his partners, John Haley and Rob Hardman, have totally remodeled the building, transforming it into a welcoming bit of Ireland.

The Blackthorn Grille is decorated with a whimsical mural of the Irish countryside, and a magical path of shamrocks, which rambles through the restaurant. Warm wood details, stained glass lighting, and Irish sayings etched in glass invite you to relax and unwind.

The full bar offers an extensive selection of fine wines, beers, and mixed drinks.

There are 22 televisions scattered throughout the restaurant for sports fans. And, with a seating capacity of 200, the Blackthorn Grille can easily accommodate large parties.

Executive Chef, Marc Vitello, has created a gourmet menu with an international flair. Dinner selections range from a traditional shepherd's pie to "Clare Island Tournedos of Salmon": 2 peppered salmon filets-one seared with a brandy glaze, the other with Pinot Noir cream sauce.

Whether lunch or dinner, Blackthorn Grille is sure to satisfy with a choice of beef, ribs, chops, seafood, chicken, pasta, soups, salads, sandwiches, burgers, pizza-even stir fry. The restaurant has also added breakfast on the weekends. Breakfast selections include omelets, pancakes, and French toast. Fred added that pizza delivery was going to be offered in 2 weeks, as well.

Antioch first to ban phosphorus

Other communities look to reduce lake pollution from fertilizer run off

By HELEN MANSFIELD hmansfield@nwnewsgroup.com

ANTIOCH - At a recent meeting, the Antioch board acted as one, with the passage of an ordinance that will ban the use of lawn fertilizers that contain phosphorus.

Jim Keim, director of physical services for the village of Antioch, said the village had been approached over the summer by the Illinois Chapter of the Sierra Club on the issue of banning fertilizers that contain phosphorus. "And the village thought it was a good idea," Keim said.

According to a press release from the Illinois Chapter of the Sierra Club, the organization believes Antioch is the first community in Illinois to have banned phosphorus fertilizer.

"The village is very proud to be at the forefront of this environmental issue," Keim said.

Environmental groups, such as the Sierra Club, concede phosphorus is good for lakes and rivers. After fertilizers containing phosphorus are applied to the ground, rainwater can wash the chemical into water sources.

"Phosphorus fuels the growth of algae, often to the ers," Pasternak said. "It's point where the algae suck oxygen out of the water needed by fish and other aquatic life," according to Dr.

Cynthia Skrukrud, Clean Water Advocate for the Sierra Club. Illinois Chapter. "Unnatural 'blooms' of algae and other plant life can also cause odor problems and obstructions for boaters."

Keim said current research indicates that the community's soil already contains a lot of naturally-occurring phosphorus.

Skrukrud said both Lake Marie and the Chain O'Lakes are exhibiting signs of what she describes as "phosphorus overload."

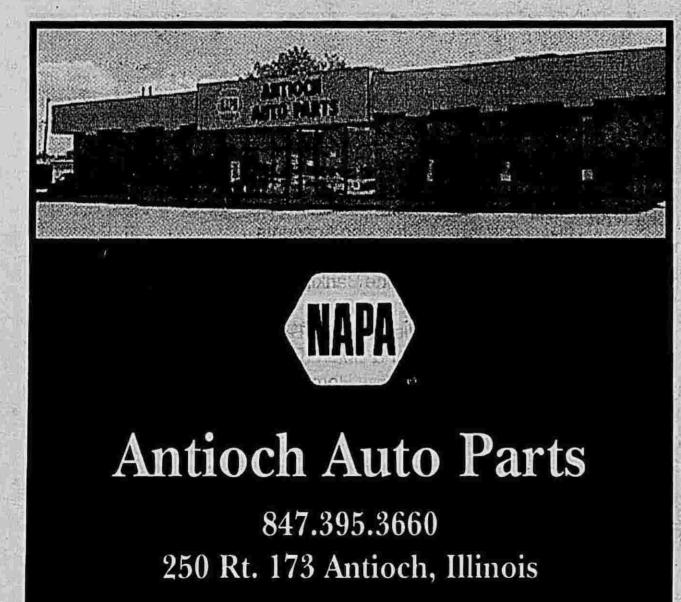

Many area retailers already offer a variety of fertilizers that don't contain phosphorus, so Keim believes that they are "on board" with the

"Our residents will get behind it," he adds. "We don't feel they'll notice a difference [in fertilizer]."

Tim Pasternak, secretary of the Lakes Management Commission of Round Lake, said he and other members of the commission "applaud ... the landmark decision."

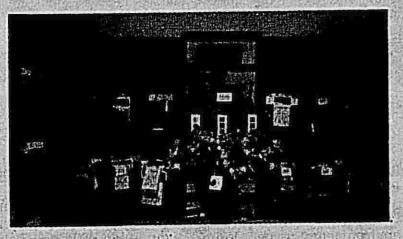

The Lakes Management plant growth, but bad for Commission represents the three villages that surround Round Lake, including the village of Round Lake, Round Lake Beach, and Round Lake Park.

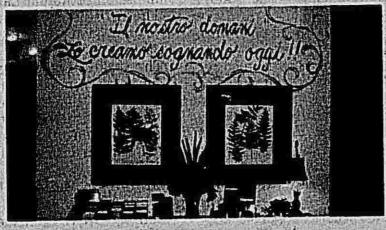

"It paves a way for othsomething we're considering; if it makes sense, it's something we'd bring forward."

Lindenhurst man judges national pie contest

By TARA CLIFTON

GURNEE - Robert Bard confesses to having an obsession with pie.

"I love pie," he said one Monday. "I get a birthday pie with candles in it."

So when the orthodontist, who owns a practice in Gurnee, saw on the Food Channel that he could be a judge in a pie eating contest, he signed up right away.

From April 20 to 22, Bard ate almost nothing but cherry pies. Unlike many other judges at the 2007 Great American Pie Festival, Bard said he stayed for the entire contest.

Sponsored by The American Pie Council, the Celebration, Fla., contest drew entries from across the country. Awards were given in three categories; amateur, professional, and commercial.

Bard said more than 900 tasted 76 different cherry pies.

"I'm a serious pie guy," Bard said. "I still like pie, but I need a little break."

But his neighbors might have something different in mind for Bard. Laughing, he said that his neighborhood is planning on having its own pie eating festival, and they want Bard to be the master taste tester.

Whether that happens remains to be seen. In the meantime, Bard is still reeling from his sweet experience in Florida.

He was one of 170 judges at the contest. Four judges tasted pies for each category, ranking certain aspects of the pie, such as the crust's flakiness, or how tart the filling was.

It was the amateur cooks who really got his attention, he said. They would spend hours of work putting in details. One woman made tiny chocolate mice with almonds for ears to go on top of her pie.

"This is serious stuff," he pies were entered, and he said. "People cried when they announced the winners. These people put love in their pies."

Middle schoolers give a hoot about leadership

By HELEN MANSFIELD hmansfield@nwnewsgroup.com

LAKE VILLA - If John Hughes' 1985 film "The Breakfast Club" has taught us anything as a society, it's that under the right circumstances, different people can come together and, the experience can change each person's life for-

Nearly 130 eighth graders from Palombi Middle School have had one of these lifechanging opportunities over the last week.

According to middle school worker Julie social Pozezinski, three groups of Palombi students will participate in OWLS - the Outdoor Wisconsin Leadership Synergies. It may sound like business-speak, but Pozezinski said the overnight retreat provides eighth graders team building, problem solving, and leadership training in the great outdoors.

"Kids find themselves," Pozezinski said of the OWLS. "The program forces them to interact with other people they don't usually."

OWLS is an overnight program where the students travel to Lake Geneva, Wis., and get to stay on the campus of Aurora University. For some students, this is the first time they are away from their tle prayer during W.C. Petty School's 2007 Spelling Bee. Bell took first place in the competition and moved on to the sectional contest at Millburn School Feb. 7.

parents. Several staff members go along to serve as chaperones, and Pozezinski said it's good for the students to see their teachers in a different environment, and vice versa.

In OWLS, students participate in ropes courses, tower climbing, along with other situations that will challenged them physically and emotionally. Pozezinski said students are not allowed to use phrases like "I can't." They are encouraged to set goals, push themselves harder, and find the strength to say "I can."

In one instance, Pozezinski remembers be tethered to a shy young lady on a climbing wall. Pozezinski said the girl was so shy, she was surprised that she came along.

'She froze on the wall," Pozezinski recalls. "She couldn't move, so I couldn't move."

After gentle and consistent encouragement, the young lady worked her way to the top of the wall, and cried with joy once she made it. Pozezinski teared up recalling the incident.

"After that, a whole new personality emerged," she said.

In the past, Pozezinski said she's had the occasional student she has had reservations about before going, "but I've never regretted taking them."

Once their kids are back, many parents remark that they are tired and cranky, but enthusiastic about what they have endured.

"They are so much more accepting of their peers, and relaxed; they can handle things better," Pozezinski said.

She said most Palombi students know another student who has gone before, so OWLS usually isn't a tough sell. This year's group is the largest of those that have gone in the last 15 years.

The program is open to every eighth grade student, but Pozezinski said the $175 cost is prohibitive for some families. In some instances, there are scholarships available. She said one anonymous parent donated the full tuition for a student to attend.

"We wish we could take all of them," Pozezinski said.
